CAMPAIGN PROGRESS

2019 Highlights

During this season of giving, we want to celebrate the exceptional generosity that has enabled The Campaign for Drexel to make major strides in 2019. Thanks to you and your fellow supporters, we're ending the year on the brink of a major milestone - almost $600 million toward our $750 million goal.

This includes more than:

- $117 million for scholarships and co-ops
- $31 million for innovative learning spaces
- $28 million for endowed professorships and chairs
- $29 million for civic engagement initiatives
- $13 million in unrestricted support

Campaign progress has been fueled by significant gifts by leading donors, such as the $1 million recently committed by the Wilbur C. and Betty Lea Henderson

Foundation to fund scholarships for students in the LeBow College of Business' Real Estate Management and Development program.

The Campaign's impact is also driven by gifts of every amount from donors who come together to make a positive difference through Drexel. During our Giving Tuesday campaign on December 3, 250 donors gave $14,259 to the Alumni Turkey Project and St. Christopher's Hunger-free Healthcare Center - two Drexel initiatives that tackle food insecurity. The Alumni Turkey Project is having a banner year overall. More than 1,000 donors have given in excess of $70,000 to provide holiday meals to more than 2,000 Philadelphia families who couldn't otherwise afford it. And about 180 volunteers participated in experiences related to the Turkey Project, including stuffing bags of canned foods, making cards for patients of St. Christopher's Hospital for Children and distributing holiday meals.

In the new year, you can expect many more opportunities to keep the Campaign's momentum going, like attending a Drexel InSites event, participating in our Day of Giving, and celebrating the 100th Anniversary of Co-op.

Until then, thank you again for your support, and best wishes for a wonderful holiday season.

SPOTLIGHT ON CO-OP

Co-ops That Fashion the Future

Some of the most cutting-edge co-op opportunities are right here at Drexel with our pioneering research centers. At our Center for Functional Fabrics, Carly Kandler '19 and Keith Taylor '19 gained hands-on experience working with fabrics that integrate technology to sense, communicate, and generate and store energy.
